

Anurognathus ammoni

A near complete but fragmentary and disarticulated skeleton described by Döderlein in 1923 shows a short tailed and wide mouthed rhamphorhynchoid with blunt teeth. A second specimen was described by Bennett in 2002 of a fully articulated specimen with an impression of a wing membrane. Both specimens are from the Solnhofen Limestone.

Holotype: Nr.1922-i-42 Bayerische Staatssammlung, München.

Döderlein L., 1923, Anurognathus ammoni, ein neuer Flugsaurier. Sitzungsberichte der Bayerischen Akademie Wissenschaften, math.-naturwiss. Klasse, 1923, München. Pp. 117-164, figs. 1-7.

Bennett S. C., 2002, A second specimen of Anurognathus from the Solnhofen Limestone of South Germany. Journal of Vertebrate Paleontology 22 (supp. 3), 36A

