

The Pterosaur Database

Cacibupteryx caribensis

A partial specimen from the Jagua Formation (middle to upper Oxfordian) of Western Cuba. This large Rhamphorhynchoid consists of a skull (17cm) and partial left wing, with an excellent preservation. The bones are well formed and not crushed.

Holotype: IGO-V 208
Museo Mario Sánchez Roig, Instituto de Geología y Paleontología, La Habana, Cuba.

Gasparini Z., Fernandez M. and De la Fuente M., 2004, A new Pterosaur from the Jurassic of Cuba, Palaeontology, July 2004, vol. 47, iss. 4, pp. 919-927(9)