

Huanhepterus quingyangensis

This Gnathosaurus like pterosaur has a distinctly long neck. It comes from the Jurassic sediments of the Ordos basin, China. The jaw is unusual in having tightly packed teeth at the front of the jaw and reducing towards the back.

Holotype: IVPP V-9070,
Institute of Vertebrate Paleontology and Paleoanthropology, Beijing, China.

Dong Z.-M., 1982, On a new Pterosauria (Huanhepterus quingyangensis gen.et. sp.nov.) from Ordos, China. Vertebrata Palasiatica 20(2):115-121.